

OFFICE HOURS

Office hours are a chance for you to ask questions about lecture, readings, or course material, talk about connections between the course material and other topics you're interested in, your academic or career interests, concerns about the course, etc. Typically, students come with questions prepared, but this is certainly not necessary! I am happy to help guide you in creating questions and also would enjoy just getting to know you! I can also answer questions or chat about applications to graduate school, law school, or undergraduate degree programs, and I am more than willing to provide any assistance I can in job or internship searches.